Putting the VINTAGE back into Lost Art VINTAGE Instruments.
If you have been following my reverb page you must have noticed a bunch of really cool vintage stuff up there.
Yes I am digging deep into the personal collection and sorting out gear parts and making a good effort to gain back some real estate....to fill it up with more gear!!!!!!

March and April were particularly busy months...tons of stuff coming in and going out.....It's been a little difficult keeping up with it but I manage.

Mostly I am glad that I finally shut down the heater and have not had to put on the air conditioner even though the pollen count has been extremely bad.....Well soon we'll be complaining about hot weather blah blah blah
