January 2020

So did you survive the holiday season?? We got by with the skin of our teeth.... Played a week two weekends before Christmas and Sue fell and bruised herself up really badly. ER put her arm in a cast but three days later the doctor cut off the cast and said it was not broken. She did play the gig though like a true rock star!!!

I know I'm a little late on this newsletter but Namm is next week and I am excited to get out to Anaheim and check out all the new gear and see those friends that I only connect with once a year....Funny the time gets faster every year.

One guarantee is that we will not get any snow on the east coast until I go out to Namm so get ready!!!!

Well it is December and we are gearing up for the Christmas season. If you celebrate or not it is a crazy time of year.

Ovation has now opened up officially for repairs so if you need to send your guitar back to the mothership give them a call!

Ovation tells me they are taking custom orders but have yet to get me prices of several pieces.....

here is the current Adamas price
